Course Overview

Enrollment Criteria

Students should have a strong interest and confidence in Chinese oracy.
Students should know some basic Chinese oratory skills.
Students should be willing to do a presentation on stage.

Engage and Assess

In the first few weeks of the course, the teacher will evaluate the children's Chinese expression and etiquette through self-introduction activities. At the same time, the teacher and children will get to know each other through some games and build a mutually trusting teacher-student relationship.

Explore and Develop

In the middle weeks of the course, students will develop a range of speaking skills. We will use different text and games to allow the students to practice their language skills in order to achieve mastery.

Refine and Present

In the final weeks of the course, students will be able to present Chinese oratorical manners and skills, e.g. recite one nursery rhyme and sing a song to showcase their learning.

Parent Engagement Opportunity

Parents will be invited to join students for a final Chinese oratorical presentation on stage.

Others

Equipment students will need to bring: pencil case and notebook.
